

WATCH TORRANCE GROW

Week Ago 114,651
Today 114,742

The Press Grows, Too

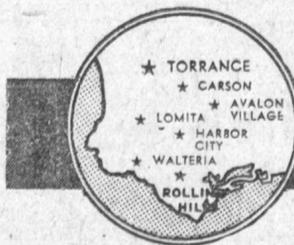

Growing with Torrance. The Torrance Press today announces a major expansion move which will provide a new wing to the present building at 3238 Sepulveda Blvd. to house a modern, high-speed press which will print 64-page newspapers in full color.

The press has all the features of the latest type presses which are used in the publishing of metropolitan daily newspapers.

Inside the Press

Classified B3-B6
Churches A3
Pictorial A6
TV Log B2
Women B1

'OUR SITE IS BEST FOR COLLEGE'

TORRANCE PRESS

FIRST OUT—FIRST READ

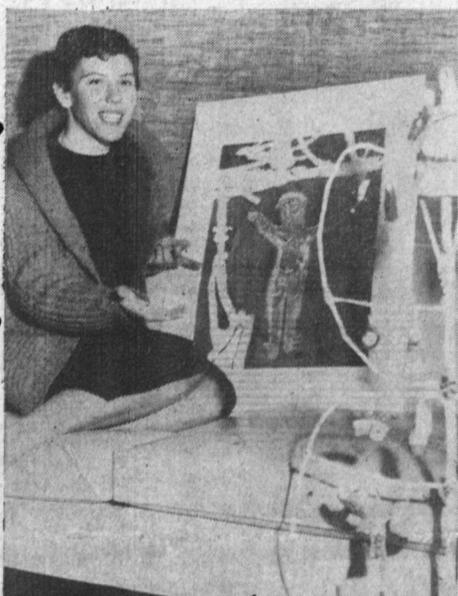

3238 SEPULVEDA BLVD. — Phone DA 5-1515

VOLUME XIV, NUMBER 77

SUNDAY, JANUARY 13, 1963

10c A COPY

Appreciation of Silence

LYNN LARSON is a young artist who passes on a love and an appreciation of art to youngsters, 5 to 11, at the Torrance YWCA on Saturdays. Shown with Lynn is her "Tree of Life" in the foreground and her serigraph, "Life Is an Overwhelming Ship," beside her on the couch. —PRESS Photo

A young lady who, as a child, became interested in creative expression while sketching pictures of horses she kept in the backyard of her parents' home in Walteria is Miss Lynn Larson, coordinator of art activities at the Torrance YWCA.

The outspoken instructor, who believes that art can serve as a tool towards promoting a reverent attitude towards life by promoting aesthetic values, supervises instructors of modern dance, baton, and creative dramatics in Saturday sessions for girls age five to 11. Classes are from 10 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

"Beauty is in many things," states the Immaculate Heart graduate, who stresses an awareness of the non-material things in life by means of the art forms.

"It is not the purpose of art to ask 'What does this do to or for me?'" points out the art educator, who feels that art should not be considered as a status symbol or a compartment of life to be pulled out for special occasions.

"Art is for everyone—not just the few," she explains. "But it must be cultivated until it becomes a philosophy of life." She believes that an appreciation of silence is the key to appreciation of art and the non-material values of living.

In attempting to inspire creative thinking in her students, Miss Larson encourages spontaneity, sensitivity, wonder, and reverence toward one's fellow man.

A member of the American Watercolor Society, she won a purchaser's award prize at the Pasadena Museum of Art in 1959. She has given demonstrations of creative teaching techniques to in-service teachers at Our Lady Queen of Angels School in Los Angeles, and has taught in parochial schools up and down the coast for seven years.

She currently has a series of serigraphs (silk screen prints) and watercolors on tour under the guidance of Immaculate Heart Art Department.

THE CAPABLE HAND of City Attorney Stanley E. Remelmyer thrusts out the impressive study that he assembled to show that Torrance provides the best site for the new South Bay College. Standing symbolically in the background behind the facts, the eyes and face of City Attorney Remelmyer dramatizes determination to sweep away the fog with plain, hard, documented proof that Torrance is the best place for the new college. —PRESS Photo

Torrance Gives Facts To Board of Trustees

The City of Torrance moved swiftly at week's end to step up the tempo in the drive to bring the campus of the new South Bay College to this city.

Stanley E. Remelmyer, City Attorney, went directly to a meeting of the Board of Trustees of California State College and laid before each member a study showing the superiority of Torrance as the home of the college.

"We are determined to fight to the last ditch for this college," said Remelmyer. "Our site is best, and our study proves it."

The "study" is an impressive 116-page volume, organized into ten sections with photographs and opinions of experts in their fields to back up the facts that it contains.

The facts marshalled in this volume by City Attorney Remelmyer are intended to drive home the point that:

1. Torrance is the best choice as a site for the new college.
 2. The Torrance site will provide all the land necessary for the college.
 3. Oil operations (as claimed) will not interfere with construction and operation of the college.
 4. It is cheaper to buy the Torrance site.
 5. It is cheaper to develop the Torrance site.
 6. The Torrance site has better public services.
 7. The Torrance site is more centrally located and more generally accessible.
 8. The Torrance site would have good physical environment.
 9. The Torrance site has better housing, employment, and shopping facilities — and better accessibility to cultural centers.
 10. Socio-economic considerations favor the Torrance site.
 11. The Torrance site would have excellent community support.
- The following companies were listed in the study as giving their support to the community in the fight for the college:
- The Garrett Corp.; Mobil Oil Co.; Douglas Aircraft; Magnavox Research Laboratories; General Technology Corp.; and Pacific Smelting Co.
- The last paragraph on page 116, perhaps, sums up the attitude of the people of Torrance. The words were spoken by Rev. David O. Beadles, chairman of the South Bay State College Citizens Committee, who said: "I would like to say: the citizens of Torrance are thrilled by the prospects of possibly being chosen as the site for this college — and we pledge our full support and cooperation if you come to Torrance."
- "We would be proud to have you. We love you. We want you."
- City Attorney Remelmyer said the overwhelming support of the people of Torrance is needed to bring the college here. He urges the citizens to show that support to those who have the deciding voice as to where the college eventually will be.
- "We'll all have to pitch in, to win," he said.

Cagers Open Second Week At North High

The Torrance Recreation Department's basketball leagues will be back in action tomorrow night for a new week.

Monday night, Amble league kicks off the evening's three games with Riviera Moose against North High Teachers at 7 p.m.

The next game, at 8 p.m., sees the Blue Balls tangle with the Rambling Wrecks. The last game starts at 9 p.m., and matches the Dead Heads against the Madrona Squares.

The next night, action switches to South High's gymnasium, 4801 Pacific Coast Highway, Torrance.

International Auto Show Opens in Long Beach Arena

The Long Beach Arena, Tuesday, Jan. 15 through Sunday, Jan. 20, will be the scene of an automotive display. The cars of seven nations, more than 300 automobiles and exhibits, will be presented to the public. This will be the first International Auto Show in the new $8 million Long Beach Arena.

Automobiles from the smallest compacts to the most luxurious designs in the world will be exhibited from 1 p.m. to midnight daily.

New automobile faces for 1963 have been drawing attention. This is an opportunity for the public to view all under one roof. Domestically, this means Buick Riviera, Corvette Stingray fast back coupe, and Studebaker's high performance Avanti, plus other displays.

The foreign market is represented too, offering, among others, the Ford Cor-

DR. LESLIE V. ESPOSITO

Dr. Esposito Joins Board of Cabrillo S&L

Dr. Leslie V. Esposito, of Long Beach, has been elected a member of the Board of Directors of Cabrillo Savings & Loan Assn., of Torrance. It is announced by Pietro Di Carlo, board chairman and association president.

"As a life-time resident of this area, Dr. Esposito is excellently qualified to join the leadership of a locally-owned institution which is dedicated to serving the needs of this community," Mr. Di Carlo said.

A native of San Pedro, Dr. Esposito is a graduate of Loyola University and the University of Southern California School of Medicine. He was formerly chief of staff of St. Mary's Hospital in Long Beach.

Dr. Esposito has been active in real estate and investments in the Torrance and South Bay area.

South High Loses 56-41, To Inglewood

By GLENN FISHER

The Inglewood Sentinels whipped the South High Spartans, 56 to 41, Friday night.

The Inglewood squad towered over the smaller Spartans. The Sentinels controlled both the ball and the backboards, and were led by six-foot-nine Steve Roth, who poured in 22 points. His height overcame any challenge.

Steve hit 15-foot shots from both sides of the goal, and completely dominated the rebound action.

Spartan high man was Mike Berry with 12 points. It was the third league setback for the Spartans against only one victory.

Torrance Woman Names Chairmen For Heart Drive

Community chairmen for communities in the South Bay area in the Southwestern Region of the Los Angeles County Heart Assn., have been named by Mrs. Henri Front, 4254 Via Lada, Torrance, Heart Sunday Regional chairman, South.

"I want to thank everyone from Torrance and the surrounding area who bought coats from me," said Miss Jeffrey, excitedly.

She is tremendously thrilled about winning, but values the achievement as much if not more than the prize.

"I started with the Anita Shops as a manager just as the contest began," Miss Jeffrey said.

"When I started to work and was transferred to the Torrance store," she added, "they told me there was a 'big fat contest' going on and that I might be the winner."

Miss Jeffrey said, at the time, she didn't think that would be possible — but it was.

"The excitement just kept building up," she said, eyes sparkling. "The telegrams kept coming every week, and as they came we'd keep trying harder. The people in Torrance were wonderful. They found out about it, and would drop in to see how we were doing, and to cheer us on."

Miss Jeffrey said the Torrance Store is in the district of Irving Schulman, who worked closely with the stores under his supervision to help them in every way that he could during the contest.

"One day," said Miss Jeffrey, "near the end of the contest, Mr. Charles P. Colby, the president of our company, came in the store. I had never met him. He said casually, 'you may be second.' It had me on . . ." and she paused.

"Pins and needles?" she was asked.

"Oh, more than pins and needles," she laughed, "the excitement at the end got greater and greater. It was the most exciting contest. Especially because some people said the Torrance store was the 'underdog.'"

"We had been getting the weekly telegrams on a Thursday," said Miss Jeffrey, "and when one didn't come the last week I thought we had lost."

"Then," she added, "Mr. Colby telephoned me Friday. Miss Jeffrey laughed. "He said, 'Are you sitting down?' I said, no, that I was standing. He said, 'You'd better pull up a chair and sit down.' So I did, and then asked: 'What is it?'"

Of course, the news was good—Torrance and Jerre Jeffrey, Eileen Cuppaccio, and Irene Dumais, had won.

As Miss Jeffrey said, the store began to vibrate with joy.

Torrance Store Wins

TICKET TO HAWAII is presented by Irving Schulman, district supervisor, Los Angeles, for the Anita Shops, to Jerre Jeffrey, manager of the Torrance Anita Shop, 1305 Sartori. Miss Jeffrey will spend a week in Hawaii as top prize in a sales contest carried on for nine weeks among the company's 23 retail stores. Miss Jeffrey said it was quite a challenge and well worth the effort. This will be her first trip outside the continental United States. She leaves Jan. 16 at 9 p.m. via Pan-American Airways, Flight 811.

Institute Seeks Volunteer Drivers To Transport Blind From Torrance

An urgent appeal for drivers from Torrance and Redondo Beach to transport blind persons to and from education classes and recreational activities at the Braille Institute was issued today by Betty Sinclair, transportation director.

"We have hundreds of blind persons who are having difficulty getting to the institute," Mrs. Sinclair pointed out. "They are enrolled in classes in Braille reading and writing, typing and other basic courses, as well as in dozens of handicraft activities. The ability to reach the Institute is of tremendous importance to them."

A bus service which is supported by cooperating Lions Clubs, she ex-

Carrier Boys Wanted
DA 5-1515

See —
A Lonely Vigil, page A-5, and Torrance pictorial, page A-6.